I am thrilled to be a part of the Blue Tangerine Federation's Governing Body. As someone who is relatively young, I can relate to the needs of today's generation, and I am excited to discuss modern day developments as part of the FGB. I am very passionate about improving educational standards and ensuring that the children at the federation have the best opportunities.

I am currently reading History at Durham University and I have developed a diverse range of skills, which I look forward to utilising as part of the governing board. In my spare time I enjoy cooking and watching Arsenal Football Club.
